DELEGATES GET PROMISES OF SUPPORT FOR DEEPER WATER FROM MEMBERS OF CONGRESS

REPORT FROM MEN SENT TO WASHINGTON READ AT MASS MEETING HELD LAST NIGHT

CONGRESSMAN CLARK SAYS HE HAS BEEN FLOODED WITH LETTERS AND TELEGRAMS FROM THIS SECTION.

The mass meeting held last night in the public school auditorium to hear the reports of delegates who were sent to Washington, D. C., recently in the interest of the improvement of Mosquito Inlet was fairly well attended, although the business men of the city, whose interests will be more greatly aided by the improvement than that of almost any other class, were not as much in evidence as they should have been.

Judge Charles H. Barrett of Indianapolis, Ind., and New Smyrna, was the first speaker of the evening. The judge gave a clear and concise account of the work of the delegation while in Washington, covering the subject so thoroughly that there was little that could be added by his fellow delegates, H. I. Hamilton, of New Smyrna, and Rev. D. H. Butler, of this city.

Judge Barrett said the delegation lost no opportunity of advancing the cause while in Washington, interviewing not only the senators and congressmen from this state, but those of every other state to whom they could secure access, and in every case but one were assured of the support of the gentlemen when ever the measure should come before them. They met with the most courteous reception in every instance.

They went to Washington provided with many facts and figures to substantiate the claims for Mosquito Inlet and secured whatever else was necessary by going to the records, in some cases having to purchase books to get the required data. They had published a pamphlet containing facts and figures secured and comparative charts of Mosquito and St. Lucie inlets, showing conclusively the advantages of the former over the latter, and this pamphlet was placed upon the desks of every senator and congressman.

They secured the promise of support for the project from both Florida senators and even Congressman Frank Clark, who when first approached showed little interest in the matter, later assured them that he would support the measure and do everything he could for it when it came before the house. Mr. Clark is reported to have said that he was being flooded with letters and telegrams from this section asking his support for the inlet improvement.

The delegates found it would be impossible to secure an appropriation for the actual improvement of the inlet at this session, but were assured that Senator Bryan's amendment to the Rivers and Harbors bill,

RACE WAR THREATENED TODAY AS THE RESULT OF LYNCHING A BLACK MAN IN MISSISSIPPI

BLACKS WITH GUNS POURING INTO TOWN AND THE NEGRO SECTION IS AN ARMED CAMP

NEGRO CHARGED WITH MURDER OF WIFE OF COUNTY CLERK IS LYNCHED AND OTHERS ARE THREATENED.

HOUSTON, Miss., Feb. 7 — Jim Jones, a negro, was lynched here this morning by a mob that stormed the jail and removed the prisoner. Other negroes under arrest have been threatened.

Following the lynching other blacks, fearing an outbreak and race war, armed themselves, and there is grave danger of a pitched battle between the blacks and whites.

Negroes armed with Winchesters and shotguns have been pouring into Houston today from the surrounding country and the negro quarters of the town resemble an armed camp.

Jones, the black lynched, was accused of murdering Mrs. J. C. Williamson, wife of the clerk of the county court. A half dozen other negroes have been arrested and placed in jail for the same crime.

The nude body of the murdered woman was found in the cellar of her home, terribly beaten, with the fingers cut off to get the rings and showing that the diamond ear rings had been torn from the ears.

Jones was lynched on a telephone pole just outside the jail yard and the negroes are threatening to murder every member of the mob which did the lynching. The whites are armed and even the women are carrying shotguns and rifles as protection.

NEGRO WANTED IN ALACHUA COUNTY IS ARRESTED HERE

DEPUTY SHERIFF MILTON REWARDED AFTER KEEPING WATCH ON HOUSEHOLD GOODS FOR MANY DAYS.

After watching his household goods at the Florida East Coast railroad station for more than a week, Deputy Sheriff Tom Milton Thursday afternoon succeeded in arresting Aaron Irving on a warrant issued in Alachua county charging the selling of mortgaged property.

Knowing that the negro had forwarded his household goods to Daytona, Sheriff Ramsey at Gainesville sent the warrant and a description of the negro to Sheriff Smith. The warrant and description was turned over to Deputy Milton and received by him more than a week ago. The household goods had already arrived here and for more than a week the owner of the goods did not put in an appearance to claim them.

Thursday afternoon he came with a team to haul the goods away and was promptly placed under arrest by the deputy sheriff. The charge against him in Alachua county is selling a mortgaged crop of cotton. He is being held in jail here for the arrival of an officer from Gainesville.

THE DAILY MARKET REPORT.

CHEETAH HUNT IN INDIA

The cheetah hunt which the viceroy witnessed recently at Hyderabad reminds one that cheetah hunting was an extremely popular sport with Indian princes in former days, although the initiation of European forms of sport has done much in these times to rob it of ancient vogue.

It was practiced both by Hindu and Mohammedan chieftains over the greater part of India, for the cheetah even now is not a rare beast, and a century or so ago must have been common enough.

Another animal used in the same way by Indian nobles was a sort of lynx, spelled variously as "siyahgosh," "syahgush." But this was used much more rarely than the cheetah. However, it was not only Indians who indulged in this form of sport.

It was enjoyed and practiced by Europeans as well in the days when they were content to abide in India for fifteen years at a stretch and when they lived a l'Indienne in a way unknown to modern times. More than one of the Company's nabobs kept their own cheetahs, which were frequently presents from friendly chiefs.

It may easily be imagined that cheetah hunting was very good sport and welcomed by the servants of the Company as an excellent substitute for the coursing which was familiar to them in England and which, like the cheetah hunt, has vanished before the spread of games such as tennis and golf.—Madras Mail.

Sensitive Plant Life.

The craving of plants and trees for water has sometimes led them to terrible extremes. A poplar has been known to burrow beneath a wall, under a road, and down a well—all in search of water, and a pertinacious turnip which got the tip of its root into the crack in a field drain went on and on until it was six feet long in the drain. So sensitive is the tip of the root on the water question that Darwin declared it must have a brain in it.

Method of Bleaching Ivory.

To bleach ivory ornaments or piano keys the following method works well. The ornaments are first washed or "soaked," if possible, in a bath of unslaked lime, which has in it a few ounces of bran and water. This should make a pasty solution if properly mixed, and will bleach the ivory which is discolored or stained. It should be rubbed off with a cloth and the ivory dried in magnesia powder. After a few minutes a few strokes with a cloth gives the ivory a brilliant polish.

Mark Twain in Serious Humor.

"Even the cleverest and most perfect circumstantial evidence is likely to be at fault, after all, and therefore ought to be received with great caution," said the late Mark Twain. CHEETAH HUNT IN INDIA

The cheetah hunt which the viceroy witnessed recently at Hyderbad reminds one that cheetah hunting was an extremely popular sport with Indian princes in former days, although the initiation of European forms of sport has done much in these times to rob it of ancient vogue.

It was practiced both by Hindu and Mohammedan chieftains over the greater part of India, for the cheetah even now is not a rare beast, and a century or so ago must have been common enough.

Another animal used in the same way by Indian nobles was a sort of lynx, spelled variously as "shoegoose," "syahgush." But this was used much more rarely than the cheetah. However, it was not only Indians who indulged in this form of sport.

It was enjoyed and practiced by Europeans as well in the days when they were content to abide in India for fifteen years at a stretch and when they lived a l'Indienne in a way unknown to modern times. More than one of the Company's nabobs kept their own cheetahs, which were frequently presents from friendly chiefs.

It may easily be imagined that cheetah hunting was very good sport and welcomed by the servants of the Company as an excellent substitute for the coursing which was familiar to them in England and which, like the cheetah hunt, has vanished before the spread of games such as tennis and golf.—Madras Mail.

Sensitive Plant Life.

The craving of plants and trees for water has sometimes led them to terrible extremes. A poplar has been known to burrow beneath a wall, under a road, and down a well—all in search of water, and a pertinacious turnip which got the tip of its root into the crack in a field drain went on and on until it was six feet long in the drain. So sensitive is the tip of the root on the water question that Darwin declared it must have a brain in it.

Method of Bleaching Ivory.

To bleach ivory ornaments or piano keys the following method works well. The ornaments are first washed or "soaked," if possible, in a bath of unslaked lime, which has in it a few ounces of bran and water. This should make a pasty solution if properly mixed, and will bleach the ivory which is discolored or stained. It should be rubbed off with a cloth and the ivory dried in magnesia powder. After a few minutes a few strokes with a cloth gives the ivory a brilliant polish.

A MAN YOU KNOW.

GEO. H. CLARK

Mr. Clark settled in Daytona in 1880 and was the first postmaster of this city, having been appointed by President Garfield. He first embarked in the jewelry business here, later adding a stationery department. He enjoys the distinction of having been in business continuously longer than any man in Daytona. He gave up the jewelry department about three years ago, but still conducts the stationery business.

Mark Twain in Satirical Humor.

"Even the cleverest and most perfect circumstantial evidence is likely to be at fault, after all, and therefore ought to be received with great caution," said the late Mark Twain. "Take the case of any pencil sharpened by any woman. If you have witnesses, you will find she did it with a knife; but if you simply take the aspect of the pencil, you will say she did it with her teeth."

Why Jocko Failed in Business.

"I'm sorry to hear," said the Lion, "that poor little Jocko has failed in his laundry business." "Yes," replied the Wombat, "he undertook too large a contract by washing the Giraffe's collars for two cents each."

The finest resort hotel in the world is being built at Sunset Mountain Asheville, N. C.

Absolutely Fireproof
Will open July 1st

Wm. S. KENNEY, manager

MR. E. W. GROVE, of St. Louis, Mo., is building the finest resort hotel in the world, to be opened July 1st, 1913. It will be absolutely fireproof, and is being built of the great boulders of Sunset Mountain, at whose foot it sits. It is being built by hand in the old-fashioned way. Full of rest and comfort and wholesomeness.

¶ The front lawn is the hundred-acre eighteen-hole golf links of the Asheville Country Club, and with it sixty acres of our own lawn.

¶ The purest water obtainable anywhere, piped seventeen miles, from the slopes of Mount Mitchell, over 6000 feet altitude. Biltmore milk and cream exclusively, supplied from 200 registered Jerseys on the estate of Mr. Geo. W. Vanderbilt. It is doubtful if this famous dairy is equaled in the world.

¶ Four hundred one-piece rugs are being made at Aubusson, France. Seven hundred pieces of the furniture are being made by hand by the Roycrofters. The silver will be hand-hammered.

¶ The plumbing material will be the finest that has ever been placed in any hotel in the world. The soil pipe has been hydraulically tested and then galvanized. The hot water pipe, 18,000 lbs. in weight, will be solid brass. The steam pipes are Byers' genuine lap-welded wrought iron tested hydraulically to 1000 lbs. The bathtubs and fixtures all solid porcelain. No pipes visible anywhere. No radiators to be seen—all placed in recesses under windows. No electric bulbs to be seen.

¶ The "Big Room," or what some call the lobby, is 80 feet by 120, and the rugs in this one room will be worth $5000. The two great fireplaces in it will burn twelve-foot logs.

¶ For the golfers we are building lockers and shower bath rooms with a forty-foot swimming pool that will not be excelled by the finest clubs in existence, and the players will be less than 100 yards distant when they are on the links.

¶ Mr. Wm. S. Kenney, of Bretton Woods, N. H., who has shown in his management of The Mount Washington hotel and Hotel Clarendon, that he is the peer of hotel keepers, will manage the Inn.

¶ Especially available for northern guests in the Spring, Fall and Winter, going or returning from farther southern resorts, or for an all Winter resort.

¶ The Inn is located on the side of Sunset Mountain, about a mile from the top, and is not only cool enough in the Summer to make a blanket necessary at night, but is protected and mild enough in the Winter to make life enjoyable without enervation.

Wm. S. KENNEY, manager

MR. E. W. GROVE, of St. Louis, Mo., is building the finest resort hotel in the world, to be opened July 1st, 1913. It will be absolutely fireproof, and is being built of the great boulders of Sunset Mountain, at whose foot it sits. It is being built by hand in the old-fashioned way. Full of rest and comfort and wholesomeness.

¶ The front lawn is the hundred-acre eighteen-hole golf links of the Asheville Country Club, and with it sixty acres of our own lawn.

¶ The purest water obtainable anywhere, piped seventeen miles, from the slopes of Mount Mitchell, over 6000 feet altitude. Biltmore milk and cream exclusively, supplied from 200 registered Jerseys on the estate of Mr. Geo. W. Vanderbilt. It is doubtful if this famous dairy is equaled in the world.

¶ Four hundred one-piece rugs are being made at Aubusson, France. Seven hundred pieces of the furniture are being made by hand by the Roycrofters. The silver will be hand-hammered.

¶ The plumbing material will be the finest that has ever been placed in any hotel in the world. The soil pipe has been hydraulicly tested and then galvanized. The hot water pipe, 18,000 lbs. in weight, will be solid brass. The steam pipes are Byers' genuine lap-welded wrought iron tested hydraulicly to 1000 lbs. The bathtubs and fixtures all solid porcelain. No pipes visible anywhere. No radiators to be seen—all placed in recesses under windows. No electric bulbs to be seen.

¶ The "Big Room," or what some call the lobby, is 80 feet by 120, and the rugs in this one room will be worth $5000.00. The two great fireplaces in it will burn twelve-foot logs.

¶ For the golfers we are building lockers and shower bath rooms with a forty-foot swimming pool that will not be excelled by the finest clubs in existence, and the players will be less than 100 yards distant when they are on the links.

¶ Mr. Wm. S. Kenney, of Bretton Woods, N. H., who has shown in his management of The Mount Washington hotel and Hotel Clarendon, that he is the peer of hotel keepers, will manage the Inn.

¶ Especially available for northern guests in the Spring, Fall and Winter, going or returning from farther southern resorts, or for an all Winter resort.

¶ The Inn is located on the side of Sunset Mountain, about a mile from the top, and is not only cool enough in the Summer to make a blanket necessary at night, but is protected and mild enough in the Winter to make life enjoyable without enervation.

PORT ORANGE

PORT ORANGE, Feb. 6—Mrs. T. M. Bates, assisted by her daughter, Miss Clara, entertained the Good Times club last week.

A party of ladies took a walk up to Daytona last Friday, among them were Mrs. John Bradley, Miss Clara Bangs, Mrs. Gibson and daughter and others whose names we did not learn.

A. G. Fair is at home after spending several months in DeLand.

J. B. Cass has been appointed Justice of the Peace, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of Lewis H. Karn.

Thursday night there was a basket social at the school house to raise funds for the school library, and it was a great success.

W. L. McDonald succeeded in getting a fine cypress flag pole 60 feet long for J. W. Wilbur Co. to erect at Elberton by the Sea.

The Good Times club went up the Tomoka river and had a picnic at the pavilion, and had a delightful time.

J. Wesley Johnson and wife and little daughter and two friends drove down to Port Orange Sunday and called on old friends.

Will Brittenheim received a fine automobile from Walton, Ky. It got lost and at last was located south of Kissimmee. Mr. Brittenheim, Edward and Metcalf went down there and drove the car back.

Great credit is due the executive committee of the Port Orange Literary and Library association for their part in making the social meeting one of the pleasantest events of the season. Ridgewood hall was tastefully decorated with choice flowers and ferns. The short business session was followed by a literary and musical program which showed marked ability. The first number, a piano solo skillfully rendered by Mrs. Stover; next a recitation by Miss [illegible] in her most pleasing manner, "Old Blind Joe," sung as a duet by [illegible], accompanied by Mrs. Stover, was heartily applauded. An address on the subject of Equal Suffrage, given by Mrs. [illegible], instructor of the W. R. C. of Indiana was well received, and the audience would gladly have listened much longer to this talented speaker. Miss [illegible] delighted all with a selection from Josiah Allen's Wife, rendered in a most realistic manner. Following this was a fine instrumental selection by Miss Robinson. The closing number was a duet charmingly played by Mrs. Hawes and Stover. A social hour was enjoyed during which dainty refreshments were served, consisting of fruit cake, small cakes, Russian tea, wafers and confectionery.

THE HOLLOW LOG

By M. QUAD

Copyright, 1912, by Associated Literary Press.

The lazy man of the village of Comstock was Tom White. He made no pretensions to lame backs and other pains and aches, but said that the girl he married knew all about his laziness beforehand and must therefore abide the results. As she made no kick about earning with her needle the main support, the public did not feel toward him as it otherwise might.

All lazy men are more or less optimistic. Tom White was wholly so. Any man who lost a cow or horse by death, any one that had a barn burned by lightning, any one that bought a gold brick of a passing stranger, was made to feel that life still held something for him after a talk with Tom.

Tom White was lazy, but he was not a liar. Lying and laziness generally go together. The community took this into account when sizing him up and said of him:

"No matter how lazy he is, you can always believe what he says."

One evening after Tom had been the champion lazy man of the village for fifteen years he had a seat with a half a dozen other men around the redhot stove in Snyder's grocery. He hadn't been doing any talking when all of a sudden he said:

"Boys, I had a singular dream Wednesday night, and it was repeated Thursday and Friday nights."

"Was it hard work?" was laughingly asked by one.

"I thought you looked done up," said a second.

Nearly all had some remark to make, and when they were through Tom continued:

"You have all dreamed all sorts of dreams, but lemme ask if any one here has ever dreamed of a holler log?"

"Beech, oak or maple?"

"I dunno. Just a holler log."

"In the woods or where?"

"Didn't seem to be in the woods in my case, and yet I can't say where else."

"How long was it?"

"Ten or twelve feet, mebbe."

"Was the holler large enough for you to crawl into?"

It was some time before they would take the man seriously, but his serious face and sober answers finally prevailed, and he said:

"I didn't dream that I was walking anywhere, but I did dream that I stood beside a holler log with an ax in hand. There was some one else near by, and a voice said:

"'Tom, split it open.'

"Yes, boys, the voice said them words, and I obeyed the command."

"And out jumped a dozen rabbits, and you killed them all and are going to have rabbit potpie for a fortnight to come?"

"No rabbits jumped out."

"What did?"

"The log was punky as well as holler. Two or three blows split it wide open, and there in the middle of the holler was an old tomato can. It looked as if it had been there for forty years."

"But you are not going to tell us that the tomatoes were spoiled?"

"Boys, the contents of that can would not spile in a thousand years. The can was sealed up, and when I broke it open it was full of twenty dollar gold pieces."

"By George!"

"You don't say!"

"But it was only a dream!"

"Just a dream," replied Tom, "but I dreamed it three nights running, you must remember."

"Shucks!" exclaimed one of the listeners after a moment of silence. "We all know what dreams are. There isn't a man in the state that ever dreamed anything that came to pass."

"Reckon not," was Tom's comment.

"But you think this will?"

"Of course."

"Then you haven't got the sense of a chickadee."

"I know it, but it will come to pass. I'm going to look for that holler log and find it. There's a can of gold in it."

In a day or two the whole town was discussing the dream, and the people were pretty evenly divided. No matter how vigorously the opposition decried the dream business, they were among those that shouldered axes and went hunting through field and forest in search of hollow logs. This search continued for a week and then was given up. Tom White himself did not participate. It was cold weather, and he said he would wait for spring. If the others found the log and the gold it would be their good luck.

One hot day in July he sat down under a cherry tree in his back yard, and with his back braced against the trunk he fell asleep. By and by his wife came to the door and called:

"Tom, I want to bake some pies, and you must split some wood."

The wood pile consisted of two or three old logs and chunks left over from the winter. Slowly the sleeper rubbed his eyes and got to his feet, and after a bit he lifted the ax and began on one of the logs. The third blow split it in half.

"Was the can there?"

"It sure was."

"And full of gold?"

"The same."

Who put that can there and when didn't count. Tom got it and used it and is using it still, and the most he has had to say when questioned about dreams was:

"You see, it was a holler log I dreamed of."

PURE FOOD LAW NOT MODERN

Centuries Ago Tradesman Who Adulterated Goods Were Most Severely Punished.

Pure food laws are not quite as modern an invention as we may believe. Dr. Bolmar has made excavations in Palestine that seem to indicate some sort of supervision of the food supplies delivered to the palace nearly 3000 years ago. Labels have been found that were once affixed to "a jar of pure olive oil." We may wonder what tests were employed and what would happen to the man whose oil was found to be not pure. Probably something unpleasant, for there was no Supreme court in those days.

We know what happened in the middle ages to the enterprising tradesman who adulterated his goods. In 1444 a Nuremberg merchant was burned alive for mixing foreign material with his saffron and the saffron itself was used for fuel. Probably that artistic touch impressed the matter upon his memory.

Some Augsburg bakers who used false weights and bad flour were ducked in a muddy pool, and through a faulty knowledge of the human respiratory system, or sheer carelessness, they came to the surface dead.

In 1482 a wine merchant was ordered to drink six quarts of his own adulterated wine, and as he died soon after it is evident that the adulteration must have been serious. It is true that he had to finish the draft in a given number of minutes, and a small number at that, but in those days they had a pleasant way of weighing the scales and loading the dice upon the side of justice.

Eyeglasses and Steam.

Wearers of eyeglasses are greatly troubled with the steam caused by the heat of the eye. This may be prevented by rubbing the glasses with soap daily. They may be polished bright after application, but an invisible film is retained which will prevent the deposit of moisture.

Dickens Most Widely Known.

If it be true to say of any author that everybody has read him, that author is Dickens. He is more of a national institution today than Shakespeare, whose works, praised and perverted, explained and darkened by an amazing mass of commentators today, are not, in our experience, really known to the average reader.—London Athenaeum.

Self-Knowledge.

Suffer me to recommend to you one of the most useful lessons of life, the knowledge and study of yourself. There you run the greatest hazard of being deceived. Selflove and partiality cast a mist before the eyes, and there is no knowledge so hard to be acquired, nor of more benefit when once thoroughly understood.—Abigail Adams to Her Son.

TAMING A SHREW

By ELIZABETH WEED

"Well, what are you goin' to do about it?"

"I dunno. If I could git the gal to marry me I'd be in a fiery furnace for the rest of my life. If I let her alone I'll be goin' around like a whipped rooster. It's six for one and half a dozen for the other."

"Why don't you git her down and pommel her for awhile? Mebbe that would take some o' the cussedness outen her."

"I'd like to see the man that could git it out of her that a-way."

"You mought scare her."

This plan seemed to set the other thinking. They were two backwoodsmen sitting by a campfire. Rogers was the man who loved the shrew, and Baxter was the friend who was advising him. Evidently in his last suggestion the latter had struck something that warranted consideration.

"What d'ye think would scare her?"

"Injuns."

"Injuns," said the other after some thought. "How'd you work it?"

"Wal, you mought git some o' 'em offen the reservation to put on their war paint and come down on the gal's home. The neighbors mought be told about it. They'd chime in with the plan, for she's a terror to the hull set of 'em. I think I know a redskin—Arapahoe Jim, they call him—who would carry out the plan for a jug o' firewater."

The result of this discourse was that one night soon after it occurred those living near Tom McGuire, the father of Madge McGuire, began to talk of trouble on the reservation and express a fear that the Indians might break away. Tom didn't take much stock in the reports, but so many persons talked with Madge about it that she believed they were in earnest. "Let 'em come," she said. "I'll be ready for 'em."

One night when her father was away Madge heard a distant whooping and saw the light of what she supposed were burning houses, though they were really bonfires. She locked all the doors and, getting down two rifles that hung on the wall, made preparations for defense. The whoops came nearer, and finally, looking out through a window, she saw a sight capable of striking terror into the stoutest heart. Half a dozen Indians carrying lighted brands were coming down the road. As they drew nearer their war paint, in the glare of the burning wood, was doubly savage looking. But they didn't come so near as they had intended, for Madge sent a bullet in among them, which altered the situation. It tore the blanket of one and scraped the leg of another. Baxter was among them, dressed and painted as a redskin. Rogers, who was waiting a short distance up the road, was to join them when they had got Madge scared and do the heroic by saving her from their tomahawks. He was to fire some shots in among them, and at every shot a redskin was to drop. When most of them were put out of the fight the rest were to take to their heels and Rogers was to appear to Madge as her deliverer. She was expected to be so badly scared and receive such evidence of Rogers' power that thereafter he would lead her like a lamb.

This initiative of Madge's somewhat checked the enthusiasm of the Indians, but Baxter said to them, "We'll make it a fort," and led the braves on, and under the additional incentive they were ready to take the risk. But they straightway began their Indian tactics, crawling and dodging so that Madge was not able to locate them. Nevertheless an occasional shot came from her fortress, usually followed by a yelp from some redskin who was either grazed or winged.

But they were too many for her, and while she was watching the front of the house Baxter and an Indian took it in the rear and, getting on the roof, dropped down the chimney. Baxter got [illegible] in his arm, but they captured the girl.

Trifling incidents often turn a people's original intentions, and the spirited defense requiring the Indians to [illegible] spoiled the plan. Rogers, not knowing what to do, rushed in, swore a blue streak at the savages, but did not hurt any of them. Madge, whose eye was full of fire and who was [illegible] with fury, seeing that his advent was of no advantage to her, let out on him.

"Why don't you go for 'em?" she screamed.

[illegible]

"You, Bill Rogers, git out of here!" she said. "You been pickin' up a fuss on me, and I'd have you know I won't stand it."

With that she brought the broom down on him, and he, too, fled.

He is trying to think out a better plan by which to tame his shrew.

Dickens Most Widely Known.

If it be true to say of any author that everybody has read him, that author is Dickens. Why Snow Is Warm.

Snow is warm by virtue of its light and woolly texture. But it is also warm on account of its whiteness. Had snow been black it would have absorbed the heat of the sun and melted quickly. Instead, it reflects heat, and the reflected heat falls upon bodies above the snow, while the warmth of the earth is preserved beneath it.

TAMING A SHREW

By ELIZABETH WEED

"Well, what are you goin' to do about it?"

"I dunno. If I could git the gal to marry me I'd be in a fiery furnace for the rest of my life. If I let her alone I'll be goin' around like a whipped rooster. It's six for one and half a dozen for the other."

"Why don't you git her down and pummel her for awhile? Mebbe that would take some o' the cussedness outen her."

"I'd like to see the man that could git it out of her that a-way."

"You mought scare her."

This plan seemed to set the other thinking. They were two backwoodsmen sitting by a campfire. Rogers was the man who loved the shrew, and Baxter was the friend who was advising him. Evidently in his last suggestion the latter had struck something that warranted consideration.

"What d'ye think would scare her?"

"Injuns."

"Mebbe," said the other after some thought. "How'd you work it?"

"Waal, you mought git some on 'em offen the reservation to put on their war paint and come down on the gal's home. The neighbors mought be told about it. They'd chime in with the plan, for she's a terror to the hull lot of 'em. I think I know a redskin—Arapahoe Jim, they call him—who would carry out the plan for a jug o firewater."

The result of this dialogue was that one night soon after it occurred those living near Tom McGuire, the father of Madge McGuire, began to talk of trouble on the reservation and expressed fear that the Indians might break away. Tom didn't take much stock in the reports, but so many persons talked with Madge about it that she believed they were in earnest. "Let 'em come," she said. "I'll be ready for 'em."

One night when her father was away Madge heard a distant whooping and saw the light of what she supposed were burning houses, though they were really bonfires. She locked all the doors and, getting down two rifles that hung on the wall, made preparations for defense. The whoops came nearer, and finally, looking out through a window, she saw a sight capable of striking terror into the stoutest heart. Half a dozen Indians carrying lighted brands were coming down the road. As they drew nearer their war paint, in the glare of the burning wood, was doubly savage looking. But they didn't come as near as they had intended, for Madge sent a bullet in among them, which altered the situation. It tore the blanket of one and scraped the leg of another. Baxter was among them, dressed and painted as a redskin. Rogers, who was waiting a short distance up the road, was to join them when they had got Madge scared and do the heroic by saving her from their tomahawks. He was to fire some shots in among them, and at every shot a redskin was to drop. When most of them were put out of the fight the rest were to take to their heels and Rogers was to appear to Madge as her deliverer. She was expected to be so badly scared and receive such evidence of Rogers' power that thereafter he would lead her like a lamb.

This initiative of Madge's somewhat checked the enthusiasm of the Indians, but Baxter said to them, "We'll make it a bar'l," and led his braves on, and under the additional incentive they were ready to take the risk. But they straightway began their Indian tactics, crawling and dodging so that Madge was not able to locate them. Nevertheless an occasional shot came from her fortress, usually followed by a yelp from some redskin who was either grazed or winged.

But they were too many for her, and while she was watching the front of the house Baxter and an Indian took it in the rear and, getting on the roof, dropped down the chimney. Baxter got lead in his arm, but they captured the girl.

Trifling incidents often turn a general's original intentions, and the spirited defense requiring the Indians to skulk spoiled the plan. Rogers, not knowing what to do, rushed in, swore a blue streak at the savages, but did not hurt any of them. Madge, whose eye was full of fire and who was panting with fury, seeing that his advent was of no advantage to her, let out on him.

"Why don't you go for 'em?" she shrieked.

"Go for 'em!" repeated Rogers, like an actor who had forgotten his lines.

"I do believe you're one on 'em."

Baxter didn't know what to do or say. Neither did Arapahoe Jim nor the supers in the performance. Whether Madge caught on to the fact that there was a game in it all or gathered courage from the inactivity of her enemies, she caught up a broom and began to lay about her like a fury. Baxter, who had a blank cartridge in his rifle, fired it at her, but it only served to enrage her. The Indians, not relishing the broom beating, one by one got out and away. Their leaders followed, and Baxter was next. Rogers was left alone with his love.

"You, Bill Rogers, git out o' here!" she said. "You been puttin' up a job on me, and I'd have you know I won't stand it!"

With that she brought the broom down on him, and he, too, fled.

He is trying to think out a better plan by which to tame his shrew.

providing for an appropriation for a survey of the inlet would surely be passed.

Judge Barrett said he again wished to impress on the winter residents and visitors to this section the value of their intercession with their senators and congressmen at home in behalf of the inlet improvement and urged that all who had not already written, do so now.

W. I. Hamilton, secretary of the New Smyrna board of trade, was the second speaker. Mr. Hamilton said it was impossible to enlarge on the report as presented by Judge Barrett. He wanted to lay particular stress on the change of attitude in regard to the inlet improvement on the part of the senators and congressmen when presented with the facts and figures relative to the inlet and its comparison with St. Lucie inlet as a port of entry. He said the fight for the improvement would be continued until the work was accomplished and that a meeting was to be held in New Smyrna later in the month, due notice of which would be given, for the organization of a waterway association for the advancement of the interests of this section. A meeting will also be held at New Smyrna tonight to receive the report of the delegates.

Rev. D. H. Rutter, the delegate from the board of trade of this city next addressed the meeting, the speakers being introduced by R. L. Smith, secretary of the Daytona board of trade. Mr. Rutter prefaced his report with a humorous story illustrating the fact that little had been left for him to say. Mr. Rutter is a forceful and interesting speaker and strongly emphasized and rounded out the points made by his fellow delegates. He gave as evidence that they had not been idle while in Washington the fact that he had worn through the soles of his shoes, new when he left this city. He paid high compliment to the value of Judge Barrett as a delegate, both through his winning personality and his large and intimate acquaintance with public men, saying that he was hailed on all sides by his christian name and likewise addressed them by their given name and that through him they secured audiences with prominent men whom they would otherwise have found difficulty in approaching. Mr. Rutter declared that he was absolutely sure that the inlet improvement could be secured through the united effort of the people of the section to be benefited and that a concerted and persistent effort should be made until the object was accomplished.

The meeting was further addressed briefly on the subject at issue by several gentlemen, including R. B. F. Roper and M. S. Walker of New Smyrna and Dr George Walton and S. H. Gove of this city.

Before the close of the meeting a rising vote of thanks was given the delegates.

The camera man grasped his black box and tripod, and, running to the car platform, sprang off into the darkness.

The robbers, most of them, were grouped about the express car. There was much money in the express safe. The company said not over $17, but it must have been thousands. W. J. (Senator) Morgan, well known in this city and vicinity as the man who promoted the majority of the big automobile races on the famous Daytona Beach, and John C. Neither has visited this section since the days of the big auto races and both were much surprised at the changes and improvements which have been made in Daytona and vicinity since that time.

Mr. Morgan is enthusiastic about his scheme for establishing a big sporting arena somewhere at a central location in the state of Florida, where all kinds of sports may be carried on during the winter months, and believes that would be the best advertising stunt that could be secured for this state. He believes it would be an attraction for athletes and their followers from all parts of the country and would put Florida on the map as the real winter athletic ground.

SENATOR N. P. BRYAN REPLIES TO LETTER FROM GEO. H. CLARK

HAS INTRODUCED AN AMENDMENT TO RIVER AND HARBOR BILL REQUESTING SURVEY OF MOSQUITO INLET.

The following letter about Mosquito Inlet improvement written by Senator N. P. Bryan in reply to Geo. H. Clark is similar to that from Senator D. U. Fletcher to the Peck-Hendricks company, published in Wednesday's issue of the Daily News and will have its interest to the public:

Dear Sir: I have your letter of January 29th, in behalf of an application for the improvement of Mosquito Inlet. Before any appropriation is made for the improvement of rivers and harbors it is necessary to have the project approved by the board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors or by the Chief of Engineers of the War Department. The preliminary step to bring this about is to provide for a survey of Mosquito Inlet. Surveys have been authorized in the past, but neither the Board of Engineers nor the Chief of Engineers have yet approved a project for improving this inlet. In order to bring their attention to this matter, and have them report at a time when so many people seem favorable to having the work done, I have introduced an amendment to the river and harbor bill, requesting a survey; and hope it may pass, and that upon examination the engineer officers may be convinced that the project would be worthy of improvement and appropriation to carry it out.

Yours very truly, N. P. BRYAN.

TESTING HIS STRONG WILL

At one of the clubs the other day two members were arguing about will power. The conceited man, who was in the habit of boring all present with his pedantic talk, said that his will was stronger than his friend's.

"You are wrong there," said the quiet man, "and I will prove it in this way. You go and stand in that corner, and I will will you to come out of it. You will against me, and I bet you that I will have you from that corner before I have commanded you a second time."

The smart one took the bet, and put himself in the corner. The quiet man said, in a commanding voice:—

"Come out of that corner!"

The other grinned and shook his head. The quiet man sat down and looked at him steadily. Five minutes passed, and then the man of will said, with a sneer:—

"Hadn't you better give it up? I don't feel any influence at all, and I can't stand here all the evening."

"There is no hurry," said the quiet man, "and I have a very comfortable seat. There is no time limit except that you are to come out before I ask you twice, and as I don't intend to ask you again until this day week, I think you will feel the influence before then."

The smart one came out.

The altar is still extant, but at a later date the building was used as a sugar mill.

SPANISH SUGAR MILL—2 miles west of Port Orange and about 8 miles from Daytona; the machinery is still in a good state of preservation, although the mill is presumed to have been built and operated by the early Spanish settlers.

GOVERNMENT LIGHTHOUSE—a Ponce Park, 12 miles from Daytona is reached by boat or by motor on the ocean beach.

MAMMOTH TREE—4 miles from Daytona; an unusually large tree; reached by motor over hard-surfaced road.

TOMOKA RIVER—The scenic stream of Florida; reached by excursion boats which leave Daytona daily and run to the navigable head of the stream, 26 miles from the city. Generally a number of alligators may be seen in their native haunts. This is a trip no tourist should miss.

DELEON SPRINGS, 26 miles from Daytona; mammoth spring that throws out thousands of gallons of water a minute; a delightful bathing pool, and picturesque scenery. Spring is situated in an old plantation. Reached by motor over good road; a nice trip for a picnic party.

OAK HILL—hamlet, 16 miles south of New Smyrna; several orange groves in the locality; reached by motor over hard-surfaced road.

ORMOND—six miles from Daytona; here is located the Ormond hotel and a pretty town; nearby are the ruins of Spanish sugar mills.

TURTLE MOUND—20 miles south of Daytona; reached by boat; a mammoth mound of oyster shells supposed to have been left by a prehistoric race of people. Pottery and other curiosities have been discovered in excavating the shell.

PORT ORANGE—an attractive town 6 miles south of Daytona, can be reached by motor over hard-surfaced road; or the trip one way may be made by the road and crossing the Halifax river on the Port Orange bridge, the return can be made on the ocean beach.

CLARENDON GOLF LINKS—miles from Daytona and immediately north of the Hotel Clarendon at Seabreeze; the links are kept in good condition. The Hotel Clarendon boasts the distinction of being the only fireproof winter tourist hotel in the world.

GENERALLY, you may motor in any direction from Daytona and find places and objects of interest which your driver can explain to you; there are many by-roads through the sylvan vegetation that a visitor will greatly enjoy.

The following letter anent Mosquito Inlet improvement written by Senator N. P. Bryan in reply to Geo. H. Clark is similar to that from Senator D. U. Fletcher to the Peck-Hendricks company, published in Wednesday's issue of the Daily News and will have its interest to the public:

Dear Sir: I have your letter of January 28th, in behalf of an application for the improvement of Mosquito inlet. Before any appropriation is made for the improvement of rivers and harbors it is necessary to have the project approved by the board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors or by the Chief of Engineers of the War Department. The preliminary step to bring this about is to provide for a survey of Mosquito inlet. Surverys have been authorized in the past, but neither the Board of Engineers nor the Chief of Engineers have yet approved a project for improving this inlet. In order to bring their attention to this matter, and have them report at a time when so many people seem favorable to having the work done, I have introduced an amendment to the river and harbor bill, requesting a survey; and hope it may pass, and that upon examination the engineer officers may be convinced that the project would be worthy of improvement and appropriation to carry it out.

Yours very truly, N. P. BRYAN.

TESTING HIS STRONG WILL

At one of the clubs the other day two members were arguing about will power. The conceited man, who was in the habit of boring all present with his pointless tales, said that his will was stronger than his friend's.

"You are wrong there," said the quiet man, "and I will prove it in this way. You go and stand in that corner, and I will will you to come out of it. You will against me, and I bet you that I will have you from that corner before I have commanded you a second time."

The smart one took the bet, and put himself in the corner. The quiet man said, in a commanding voice:—

"Come out of that corner!"

The other grinned and shook his head. The quiet man sat down and looked at him steadily. Five minutes passed, and then the man of will said, with a sneer:—

"Hadn't you better give it up? I don't feel any influence at all, and I can't stand here all the evening."

"There is no hurry," said the quiet man, "and I have a very comfortable seat. There is no time limit except that you are to come out before I ask you twice, and as I don't intend to ask you again until this day week, I think you will feel the influence before then."

The smart one came out.

Sympathetic Judge.

A middle aged woman, who was charged at Marylebone (Eng.) with being drunk, was said to have been found lying fast asleep in a garden on a quantity of cut flowers. "I must say I feel a little sorry for you," said Mr. Plowden. "Asleep on a bed of flowers—wakened up and brought back to this wicked world. It must have caused you a shock. You may go with a caution."

To the Point.

All the world is so closely akin that not one individual may realize his high desire except all the world share it with him. Every good thought you send out is a silent power working for peace, health, love, joy, success to all humanity—including yourself.—Elizabeth Towne.

Simple Headache Remedy.

A nervous headache may frequently be cured by several slices of lemon in a cup of strong tea and a billous headache is almost invariably put to rout by a tablespoonful of lemon juice in a cup of black coffee.

Air Purified.

The air of a cellar or any dark store room can be kept sweet by hanging lumps of charcoal in net bags. Every few weeks the charcoal should be taken out, made very hot and returned to the bags.

INTERESTING RIDES AND DRIVES
POINTS WORTH VISITING

OCEAN BEACH—excellent motoring north for 10 miles and south 15 miles to Mosquito inlet and the Government lighthouse at Ponce Park. The beach is the most magnificent in the world.

BEED, KNOX & BEED ORANGE GROVE—18 miles, via Ormond, is one of the largest groves in Volusia county and is well worth seeing; can be reached by motor over fairly good road; can also be reached by boat.

NEW SMYRNA—16 miles from Daytona, over an excellent hard surface road; this drive is said to be the prettiest in the state. At New Smyrna are the ruins of an ancient fort and other historical spots, left by the colony of Andrew Turnbull.

OLD SPANISH MISSION—2 miles west of New Smyrna, reached by motor over good road. This mission is without authentic history but by many it is contended that this is the church built by Columbus on his second voyage to America. The altar is still extant, but at a later date the building was used as a sugar mill.

SPANISH SUGAR MILL—2 miles west of Port Orange and about 8 miles from Daytona; the machinery is still in a good state of preservation, although the mill is presumed to have been built and operated by the early Spanish settlers.

GOVERNMENT LIGHTHOUSE — a Ponce Park, 12 miles from Daytona is reached by boat or by motor on the ocean beach.

MAMMOTH TREE—4 miles from Daytona; an abnormally large tree; reached by motor over hard-surfaced road.

DELAND—25 miles from Daytona; the county seat of Volusia county and seat of John B. Stetson university; a very picturesque city; reached by motor over hard surfaced road

TOMOKA RIVER—The scenic stream of Florida; reached by excursion boats which leave Daytona daily and run to the navigable head of the stream, 26 miles from the city. Generally a number of alligators may be seen in their native haunts. This is a trip no tourist should miss.

DELEON SPRINGS, 28 miles from Daytona; mammoth spring that throws out thousands of gallons of water a minute; a delightful bathing pool, and picturesque scenery. Spring is situated in an old plantation. Reached by motor over good road; a nice trip for a picnic party.

OAK HILL—hamlet, 10 miles south of New Smyrna; several orange groves in the locality; reached by motor over hard-surfaced road.

ORMOND—six miles from Daytona; here is located the Ormond hotel and a pretty town; nearby are the ruins of Spanish sugar mills.

TURTLE MOUND—26 miles south of Daytona; reached by boat; a mammoth mound of oyster shells supposed to have been left by a prehistoric race of people. Pottery and other antiquities have been discovered in excavating the shell.

PORT ORANGE—an attractive town 6 miles south of Daytona, can be reached by motor over hard-surfaced road; or the trip one way may be made by the road and crossing the Halifax river on the Port Orange bridge, the return can be made on the ocean beach.

CLARENDON GOLF LINKS—2 miles from Daytona and immediately north of the Hotel Clarendon at Seabreeze; the links are now in good condition. The Hotel Clarendon bears the distinction of being the only fireproof winter tourist hotel in the world.

Seabreeze News

Through the efforts of C. F. Burgman a number of comfortable seats have been placed on the parkage on Ocean boulevard, also on the Princess Issena and Geneva grounds and the first block north of Halifax avenue. The funds for the seats as well as for the electric street lighting was subscribed by the residents on the boulevard, who in a commendable spirit of emulation are not to be passed in progressiveness by North Halifax avenue property holders.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Uebelhoer entertained Tuesday evening at their beautiful home on North Atlantic avenue, at a six o'clock dinner in honor of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Plumb, of Pittsfield, Mass. Besides the host and hostess, the guests enjoying the occasion were Mrs. C. F. Starr, Misses Merrill and [illegible] and Miss Francis Plumb.

Mrs. Lizzie Cogburn and sister, Mrs Ella Cogburn of Marietta, Ga., have returned home after a pleasant visit with Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Dunn, at their home on North Halifax avenue.

Mrs. Hartridge of Marietta, Ga., is here on a visit to Miss Lena Kemp, and father, on North Halifax avenue.

W. L. Biggers after a pleasant visit with his mother, Mrs. Geo. W. Buckner on North Ocean avenue, has gone to New Orleans to attend Mardi Gras.

Geo. W. Buckner, chairman of the street committee, is known by the good work on Seabreeze streets. When other help is lacking he has a habit of putting his own hand to the plow, and in this way has saved to the town a neat sum of money. Tuesday morning your correspondent found him shoveling sand to raise the grade at Earl street ocean approach. After the grade is raised the approach will be hard shelled, material for which is already on the ground.

The property owners are getting up a petition to open Ocean avenue from Earl street to Ora avenue. This will make a great improvement in the ocean front property in this block.

The following Nokomis, Ill., contingent have leased the Olliver house, recently purchased and remodeled by Geo. W. Darby: Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Casselberry, Mrs. C. F. Brown and Misses Ruth, Josephine and Agnes Brown, and Mrs. Burwell.

Ideal cottage on Ocean boulevard has been taken for the season by Mr. and Mrs. I. E. Gardner of Toledo, Ohio. Mrs. M. J. Murphy, the owner, left with her children, Hazel and Cecil, Tuesday afternoon for Edgefield, her country home at Orange Mills.

The Arnheim winter home, known as the Jones property on Ocean boulevard, having been rehabilitated, is now occupied by Mrs. Arnheim and family, including Mr. and Mrs. Davis and two children, Miss Arnheim and Mr. and Mrs. Banks, who lately joined them.

The Princess Issena has seven [illegible] cottages engaged for their owners. It is expected that work will begin on a large addition to the hotel in April. Within the past few days the following arrivals are noted: Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Taylor, Atlanta, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Myers, Bluedale, Ill.; Scott J. Davis, [illegible], Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hopkins, Williamsport, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Gowen and Hiram B. Gowen, Attleboro, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Plumb, Miss Frances Plumb, Mrs. A. W. McBean and son, Winnipeg, Canada.

The Geneva reports a larger number of guests this season than last, at this time of year, and everybody is busy, "even father," looking after the welfare of the guests. The following arrivals have registered since last noted: E. R. Pritchard, M. T. Pritchard, J. B. Brown, Boston, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Scott, London, Canada; J. W. Hutchinson and son, Winnipeg; Mr. and Mrs. Geo. E. P. [illegible], Mr. and Mrs. Loving Gray, Mankato, Minn.

J. M. Rogers is having a coquina rock fence built at his handsome winter home on the corner of North Halifax avenue and Glenview boulevard.

Miss Eva Gillett, who was visiting her uncle, C. C. Gillett at his home on North Halifax avenue, has returned to his home at Williamsport, Pa.

One of the distinguished visitors here this season, Judge C. B. Grant of Detroit, Mich., was for 16 years justice of the Supreme court of Michigan, and circuit judge for the same number of years before that. He is now retired, being 77 years of age.

Miss Leola Coburn entertained the Seabreeze high school and a number of other friends at a delightful theater party Thursday evening. The ferry was chartered for the river trip. The company was first entertained at the Crystal theater and later enjoyed the Coburn Minstrels at the New Daytona theater.

Geo. Gardiner of St. Paul, Minn., who with Mrs. Gardiner, is a guest at the Clarendon, has had his lot on the northwest corner of North Halifax avenue and Glenview boulevard grubbed, preparatory to erecting a handsome bungalow, which will be built this season. He has also had his river lot just across the street cleared and graded. This property he has refused many tempting offers to sell, and says he expects to own it as long as he lives, and will build a winter home on it later.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Fortson are with Mrs. Fortson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Hart, on Halifax avenue. There is no improvement apparent in Mr. Hart's condition, which continues quite serious.

Mrs. Geo. W. Wells arrived Saturday from Stockbridge, Mass., and is house guest at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Gamble on North Halifax avenue. Mrs. Wells' numerous friends are extending her a cordial welcome back to Seabreeze.

Seabreeze Council Doings.—

The town council met in regular session Monday evening, at which time the following business was transacted: The registration books were read and the names of those dead or removed were stricken off and the usual list published. The treasurer's report was read and referred to chairman of the finance committee. It showed that the present council will have a balance to turn over to the next council after all bills are paid, thus leaving the town for 1913 all clear for the coming season's work. This was considered a good showing for the amount of good work which had been done by the present council. Alderman Buckner, chairman of the street committee, made his statement of the work done under his supervision on [illegible] boulevard and Atlantic avenue. This was very creditable to him as he made a good saving to the town. It was decided to have a statement prepared, showing how all moneys had been expended, for the information of the tax payers and the public generally.

A session of the council will be held Monday, February 10, when the citizens are requested to come out and make any inquiry they may wish in regard to town affairs. The statement of expenditures by the council will be printed and distributed to the citizens at private expense.

In addition to the ticket prepared by the caucus last week, and to be placed in nomination, a ticket has been presented of those selected and placed in nomination by petition, which is as follows: Mayor, [illegible]; clerk and assessor, [illegible]; treasurer, J. B. [illegible]; tax collector, C. P. [illegible]; marshal, D. E. Lowe; aldermen, [illegible] W. Buckner, A. N. Fleming, [illegible], W. E. [illegible].

ORMOND

ORMOND, Feb. 6—Mrs. Isabelle B. Stimpson and Mrs. Rachel Neal gave a very successful Skip whist party for the benefit of the new library building fund at the library rooms Tuesday evening, netting $14. This was the third party of the season.

Geo. W. Graham and wife from Duluth, Minn., are visiting Mr. Graham's aunt, Mrs. Emily Waldron. Mr. Graham is a conductor on the D., M. & N. railway.

Sam Morris of Anniston, Ala., is again in town the guest of his mother, Mrs. Edward Morris. He, together with Mr. and Mrs. Robertson, made a fishing trip up the Tomoka Wednesday, and Thursday found him off for a duck hunt. Mr. Morris is the right sort of a sportsman.

The regular meeting of the V. I. A. was held in the library rooms Friday. After the usual business was attended to Miss Amy Shaw rendered most delightfully two piano solos, "To a Water Lily," and Schubert's "Impertu." The program for the day "Forestry and Memorial Tree Planting," was then taken up, Mrs. H. B. Shaw reading an unusually interesting paper written by Mrs. Kirk Munroe, on Florida forestry. Miss Ella [illegible] followed with a paper on "Trees for Utility and Practical Work for Clubs." Mrs. Shaw then read a sketch of the club's late president, Mrs. Milo McNeal's life and work. After adjournment to the lawn a camphor tree was planted with appropriate exercises in memory of Mrs. McNeal. Mesdames Stimpson, Hoge, Milligan and Neal served.

Frank Colby took a party of ten up the river Thursday last. On their way home they became stranded, were towed to Addison's landing, and from there were transported over to Volusia, where they were most hospitably entertained at the hotel, arriving home about 1 o'clock the following afternoon. Their Ormond friends were much exercised, and rescuing parties were out most of the night and most of the following forenoon before the missing party was located. All's well that ends well, but please telephone next time.

Mr. and Mrs. T. V. L. Johnson of Boston, left for home Tuesday afternoon, having spent a most delightful month in Ormond as guests of Mrs. Isabelle B. Stimpson.

Ed Russell's little three-year-old daughter, in crossing the street Wednesday morning was thrown down by an automobile which was backing, but was unhurt, though the small cart she was wheeling, was demolished. The accident was in no way whatever the fault of the driver of the auto, and the parents of the small child consider themselves very fortunate.

H. D. Moller, who is stopping at Mildred Lodge with Mrs. Moller, has recently purchased the "Francelia" from John A. [illegible], and is having great sport boating and fishing.

The John A. [illegible] entertained at dinner Wednesday, the Geo. H. [illegible]. Mr. [illegible] returns to his home at Hartford, Conn., next week. He has recently had a 400-foot shell walk laid on his premises and also had set out 100 grape fruit trees.

F. Adams, piano tuner, with Mrs. Adams and the latter's father, were anchored off Ormond for two or three days, enroute for Miami. Mr. Adams looked after some of the pianos while here, as he has several old customers.

KINGSTON.

KINGSTON, Feb. 6.—T. W. Kingston is improving his property by having W. H. Sykes lay cement sidewalks and a well put [illegible].

Miss Winifred Kingston has purchased a beautiful new piano.

The Misses [illegible] and [illegible], of Cleveland, O., are recent arrivals at the Paradise. They are nieces of Mr. and Mrs. Aldrich, who have been here for some time.

Kingston friends will be sorry to learn of an accident which occurred near Miami, while Mr. and Mrs. [illegible] Hatfield were driving toward Miami, an automobile running at a high rate of speed collided with them, throwing them all to the ground. Although they were all shaken, none were seriously injured. Mrs. Hatfield is a sister of Mrs. [illegible] Hilton, of Daytona.

S. M. [illegible] again after a few days illness.

The property owners are getting up a petition to open Ocean avenue from Earl street to Ora avenue. This will make a great improvement in the ocean front property in this block.

The following Nokomis, Ill., contingent have leased the Olliver house, recently purchased and remodeled by Geo. W. Darby: Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Casselberry, Mrs. C. F. Brown and Misses Ruth, Josephine and Agnes Brown, and Mrs. Burwell.

Ideal cottage on Ocean boulevard has been taken for the saeson by Mr. and Mrs. I. E. Gardner of Toledo, Ohio. Mrs. M. J. Murphy, the owner, left with her children, Hazel and Cecil, Tuesday afternoon for Edgefield, her country home at Orange Mills.

The Arnheim winter home, known as the Jones property on Ocean boulevard, having been rehabilitated, is now occupied by Mrs. Arnheim and family, including Mr. and Mrs. Davis and two children, Miss Arnheim and Mr. and Mrs. Banks, who lately joined them.

The Princess Issena has some half dozen cottages engaged for their overflow. It is expected that work will begin on a large addition to the hotel in April. Within the past few days the following arrivals are noted: Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Taylor, Atlanta, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Myers, Hinsdale, Ill.; Scott J. Davis, Hinsdale, Ill.; Mr and Mrs. Wm. Hopkinson, Williamsport, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Gowen and Hiram B. Gowen, Attleboro, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Plumb, Miss Frances Plumb, Mrs. A. W. McBean and son, Winnipeg, Canada.

The Geneva reports a larger number of guests this season than last, at this time of year, and everybody is busy, "even father," looking after the welfare of the guests. The following arrivals have registered since last noted: E. R. Pritchard, M. T. Pritchard, J R Brown, Boston, Mass; Mr and Mrs. B. C. Scott, London, Canada; J. W. Hutchinson and son, Winnipeg; Mr. and Mrs. Geo. E. P. Britt, Mr and Mrs. Loving Gray, Mankato, Minn.

J. M. Rogers is having a coquina rock fence built at his handsome winter home on the corner of North Halifax avenue and Glenview boulevard.

Miss Eva Gillett, who was visiting her uncle, C. C. Gillett at his home on North Halifax avenue, has returned to his home at Williamsport, Pa.

One of the distinguished visitors here this season, Judge C. B. Grant of Detroit, Mich., was for 16 years justice of the Supreme court of Michigan, and circuit judge for the same number of years before that. He is now retired, being 77 years of age.

Miss Leota Coburn entertained the Seabreeze high school and a number of other friends at a delightful theater party Thursday evening. The ferry was chartered for the river trip. The company was first entertained at the Crystal theater and later enjoyed the Coburn Minstrels at the New Daytona theater.

Geo. Gardiner of St. Paul, Minn., who with Mrs. Gardiner, is a guest at the Clarendon, has had his lot on the northwest corner of North Halifax avenue and Glenview boulevard grubbed, preparatory to erecting a handsome bungalow, which will be built this season. He has also had his river lot just across the street cleared and graded. This property he has refused many tempting offers to sell, and says he expects to own it as long as he lives, and will build a winter home on it later.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Fortson are with Mrs. Fortson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Hart, on Halifax avenue. There is no improvement apparent in Mr. Hart's condition, which continues quite serious.

Mrs. Geo. W. Wells arrived Saturday from Stockbridge, Mass., and is house guest at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Gamble on North Halifax avenue. Mrs. Wells' numerous friends are extending her a cordial welcome back to Seabreeze.

Seabreeze Council Doings —

The town council met in regular session Monday evening, at which time the following business was transacted: The registration books were read and the names of those dead or removed were strickened off and the usual list published. The treasurer's report was read and referred to chairman of the finance committee. It showed that the present council will have a balance to turn over to the next council after all bills are paid, thus leaving the taxes for 1912 all clear for the coming season's work. This was considered a good showing for the amount of good work which had been done by the present council. Alderman Buckner, chairman of the street committee, made his statement of the work done under his supervision on Emerson boulevard and Atlantic avenue. This was very creditable to him as he made a good saving to the town. It was decided to have a statement prepared, showing how all moneys had been expended, for the information of the tax payers and the public generally.

A session of the council will be held Monday, February 10, when the citizens are requested to come out and make any inquiry they may wish in regard to town affairs. The statement of expenditures by the council will be printed and distributed to the citizens at private expense.

In addition to the ticket prepared by the caucus last week, and to be placed in nomination, a ticket has been presented of those selected and placed in nomination by petition, which is as follows: Mayor, A. T. Bigelow; clerk and assessor, J. A. Burgman; treasurer, J. R. Tomlinson; tax collector, C. P. Lund; marshal, D. E. Lowe; aldermen, G. W. Buckner, A. N. Fleming, J. R. Wilcox, W. E. Green.

The program for the day "Forestry and Memorial Tree Planting," was then taken up, Mrs. H. B. Shay reading an unusually interesting paper written by Mrs. Kirk Monroe, on Florida forestry. Miss Ella Faulke followed with a paper on "Trees for Utility and Practical Work for Clubs." Mrs. Shaw then read a sketch of the club's late president, Mrs. Milo McNeal's life and work. After adjournment to the lawn a camphor tree was planted with appropriate exercises in memory of Mrs. McNeal. Mesdames Stimpson, Sage, Milligan and Neal served.

Frank Colby took a party of ten up the river Thursday last. On their way home they became stranded; were towed to Addison's landing, and from there were transported over to Volusia, where they were most hospitably entertained at the hotel, arriving home about 1 o'clock the following afternoon. Their Ormond friends were much exercised, and rescuing parties were out most of the night and most of the following forenoon before the missing party was located. All's well that ends well, but please telephone next time.

Mr. and Mrs. T. V. L. Johnson of Boston, left for home Tuesday afternoon, having spent a most delightful month in Ormond as guests of Mrs. Isabelle B. Stimpson.

Ed Russell's little three-year-old daughter, in crossing the street Wednesday morning was thrown down by an automobile which was backing, but was unhurt, though the small cart she was wheeling, was demolished. The accident was in no way whatever the fault of the driver of the auto, and the parents of the small child consider themselves very fortunate.

H. D. Moller, who is stopping at Mildred Lodge with Mrs. Moller, has recently purchased the "Francelia" from John A. Reilly, and is having great sport hunting and fishing.

The John A. Reillys entertained at dinner Wednesday, the Geo. H. Sages. Mr. Sage returns to his home at Hartford, Conn., next week. He has recently had a 400-foot shell walk laid on his premises and also had set out 100 grape fruit trees.

F. Adams, piano tuner, with Mrs. Adams and the latter's father, were anchored off Ormond for two or three days, enroute for Miami. Mr. Adams looked after some of the pianos while here, as he has several old customers.

KINGSTON.

KINGSTON, Feb. 6— Y. W. Kingston is improving his property by having W. H. Byne lay cement sidewalks and a well pit.

Miss Winifred Kingston has purchased a beautiful new piano.

The Misses Brack and Bender, of Cleveland, O., are recent arrivals at the Ferndale They are nieces of Mr. and Mrs. Ahlman, who have been here for some time.

Kingston friends will be sorry to learn of an accident which occurred near Miami, while Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Hatfield were driving toward Miami, an automobile running at a high rate of speed collided with them, throwing them all to the ground. Although they were all stunned, none were seriously injured. Mrs Hatfield is a sister of Mrs. T. O. Milton, of Daytona.

R. H. Blydenburgh is able to be out again after a few days illness.

TRAIL OF LONESOME PINE IS SPLENDID ATTRACTION

Holding the interest and undivided attention of the audience from the time the curtain went up on the first act until the close of the play, "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," was splendidly presented at the New Daytona theater last night.

The company was well balanced and the character representations came fully up to those expected by the large audience which greeted the splendid play. The weakened physical condition of Miss Isabelle Lowe, who carried the star role, caused by a severe cold, made it extremely difficult for her to display her full qualifications for the part, but she did exceptionally well under the circumstances and had the sympathy of her audience with her throughout the play.

Miss Lowe has been suffering with a severe cold for two weeks, and her condition has become so serious she is constantly in the care of a trained nurse, yet she carried the difficult role of June throughout the play last night. The entire cast is high class. Miss Lowe is a hard working little body and she was ably supported by the other members of the company. Noah Berry, as Judd Tolliver, and Thomas Morrison, as Dave Tolliver, were especially strong in their character representations.

TRAIL OF LONESOME PINE IS SPLENDID ATTRACTION

Holding the interest and undivided attention of the audience from the time the curtain went up on the first act until the close of the play, "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," was splendidly presented at the New Daytona theater last night.

The company was well balanced and the character representations were fully up to those expected by the large audience which greeted the splendid play. The weakened physical condition of Miss Isabelle Lowe, who carried the star role caused by a severe cold, made it extremely difficult for her to display her full qualifications for the part, but she did exceptionally well under the circumstances and had the sympathy of her audience with her throughout the paly.

Miss Lowe has been suffering with a severe cold for two weeks, and her condition has become so serious she is constantly in the care of a trained nurse, yet she carried the difficult role of June throughout the play last night. The entire cast is high class. Miss Lowe is a hard working little body and she was ably supported by the other members of the company. Noah Berry, as Judd Tollivar, and Thomas Morrison, as Dave Tollivar, were especially strong in their character representations.

BROOKHAVEN, Miss., Feb. 7.—A total of 41 persons, mostly negroes, were injured today when a Mississippi Central train was derailed and one coach plunged into a creek. Two others hung suspended over the water.

Rooted in the Human Heart.

There is a smell in our native earth better than all the perfumes in the east. There is something in a mother, though never so angry, that the children will more naturally trust her than the studied civilities of strangers, let them be never so hospitable.—Lord Halifax.
